

This note was received from John F. Deethardt, husband of Alice Pfeiffer Deethardt

I would like to notify you that my wife of many years has passed away. Alice Pfeiffer Deethardt died April 12, 2012, just two weeks ago today. A memorial blog has been created by me, her husband of 54 years, John F. Deethardt II.

Click on this URL to access it and read a fuller story.

I would like all your subscriber who knew her to leave a comment of remembrances about Alice. This is styled like a yearbook, since Alice was a yearbook advisor when she taught at WCHS. I was a teacher at WCHS myself for six years.

<http://emergent89.wordpress.com/>

Please publish that URL to all your subscribers.
Thank you, Class of 57.

My class was at Mishawaka, Indiana, High School, which has had, for a very long time, a newsletter, The Alumni Newsletter, probably one of the biggest and best in the nation.

It is a much larger high school than WCHS, which probably is the factor that allows such an elaborate newsletter.
I am sure there are some WCHS alumni who would like to read about Alice, and, perhaps, make a comment, yearbook-style.

Again, thank you.

John F. Deethardt